Vice Mayor Manny Martinez, City of Glendale

January 2, 2009

Happy New Year 2009!

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

As we look back over the past year, it's exciting to think about how much has happened and what the city has accomplished. Westgate has taken off, the new spring training baseball facility is well underway, and more new development is planned to the west. We are currently working on the "Glendale Centerline" project, which includes an intensive visioning and planning process that will result in the redevelopment and revitalization of the Glendale Avenue corridor. Earlier this year, Glendale hosted the Super Bowl and we were very proud to have the eyes of the world upon us.

This is the time of year that we reflect on our accomplishments and look forward to many undertakings that are anticipated for the year ahead. 2008 was a challenging year for many cities due to the economy. I assure you that Glendale will continue to meet the challenges ahead of us as we enter 2009. It has been my pleasure to have served you in 2008, and I look forward to serving you in the coming year.

I wish you a happy, healthy and prosperous New Year.
